

Lesson Plan: Already or yet?

LEVEL	TIME	FOCUS
Intermediate (B1/B2)	60 minutes	Grammar (present perfect)

Objectives

By the end of the lesson, students will be able to:

- Explain when to use already and yet
- Use already and yet correctly in sentences and questions
- Correct common ESL mistakes with these words
- Use them naturally in short conversations and writing

1. Warm-up (10 minutes)

Activity: "Done or not done?"

Write these sentences on the board:

1. I have finished my homework.
2. I haven't finished my homework.

Ask:

"Which sentence means the action is complete?"

"Which means it is not complete?"

Now add:

3. I have already finished my homework.
4. I haven't finished my homework yet.

Ask:

"How do already and yet change the meaning?"

2. Presentation: Already vs. yet (15 minutes)

A. When to use already

Use already when:

- The action is completed before now

- Often earlier than expected

Sentence type:

- Affirmative sentences
- Sometimes questions (surprise)

Position:

- After have/has, before the main verb

Examples:

- I have already done my homework.
- She has already left school.
- Have you already finished? (surprise)

B. When to use yetUse yet when:

- The action is not finished up to now
- But it may happen later

Sentence Type:

- Negative sentences
- Questions

Position:

- Usually at the end of the sentence

Examples:

- I haven't done my homework yet.
- Has she arrived yet?

C. Key contrast (very important for ESL)

Situation	Use
Action is finished	already
Action is not finished	yet
Affirmative sentence	already
Negative / question	yet

Common mistake:

I already didn't eat. (wrong)

I haven't eaten yet. (correct)

3. Guided practice (15 minutes)

Activity 1: Choose the correct word

Students work in pairs.

1. I have _____ finished my project.
2. Have you finished the test _____?
3. She hasn't called me _____.
4. They have _____ arrived at school.

Answers:

1. already
2. yet
3. yet
4. already

Activity 2: Correct the mistake

Students rewrite the sentences correctly.

1. I already didn't do my homework.
2. She hasn't eaten already.
3. Have you done your homework already? (context: normal question)

Corrections:

1. I haven't done my homework yet.
2. She hasn't eaten yet.
3. Have you done your homework yet?

4. Independent practice (10 minutes)

Activity: Complete the dialogue

A: Have you cleaned your room ___?

B: Yes, I've ___ cleaned it.

A: Lucky! I haven't cleaned mine ___.

Answers:

yet / already / yet

5. Production: speaking & writing (5-10 minutes)

Activity: "Already or yet?"

Students write 5 sentences:

- 3 sentences using already
- 2 sentences using yet

Then students ask a partner:

- Have you finished your homework yet?
- Have you already eaten today?

6. Review & exit ticket (5 minutes)

Ask:

"When do we use already?"

"When do we use yet?"

"Where does yet go in a sentence?"

Exit Ticket:

Correct this sentence:

I already haven't finished my project.

Answer:

I haven't finished my project yet.

Optional homework

- Write a short paragraph (5-6 sentences) using already and yet
- Online quiz or worksheet for practice
